Give Them a Chance! All your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery (the) Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which they cannot do well. Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of these and lung and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take St. Jacobs Oil. It is a powerful remedy. It will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. It acts directly upon the part affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching, and effecting a permanent cure. To cents. Address: The Ross Medical Co., Piquette, Ohio. Sold by R. J. Hodgkinson & Co., Reno, Nev.

Merit Will Tell. Was never better demonstrated than when "Fryer's Abolition Remedy" were awarded diplomas at the late California State Fair at Sacramento, and at Mechanics' Institute at San Francisco. Wm. P. Fryer is agent for these celebrated "Abolition Remedies" and he offers to return your money if they do not give satisfaction. In buying, be sure the fac-simile signature of Dr. Fryer is on each bottle, and you are genuine without it.

A DAKOTA HOME.

A Newcomer's Life in the Big Territory of the Northwest.

"How do people live in Dakota?" "Live? Why, they prepare for it. The early comers generally put up sod houses, and there is nothing in the world so warm as a sod house. You can walk around barefoot on the floor of one if properly constructed, in the coldest weather.

"After they have been there long enough settlers generally build log houses, hauling logs thirty or forty miles for the purpose. These houses are warm and comfortable. So long as you don't have to go out you don't know what winter is. But the sod house is not to be treated with disdain, I assure you."

"How are they built?" "In the first place a frame of boards the size of the house is to be put up so as to give the house a nice appearance inside; the roof is also boarded over. Then the sod is cut with a plough and a bank three or four feet thick is raised all around this frame. Every sod is laid as carefully as a mason lays a brick, the roots up, and all the openings are filled in with fine dirt.

Openings are made for the windows and doors, which have frames extending from inside to outside. These will contain sometimes three windows for winter—always two. When the sod rampart is raised to the height of the roof poles are laid on and then sod put over these. The roots hold everything firm. You would be surprised to see the roots. Some of these grass roots are as thick as my finger and extend down from ten to fourteen feet."

"What?" "It's a fact, I assure you; I have followed them down myself when digging wells in that blue-joint grass land. Why, a man in ploughing has to stop and sharpen his plough every eighty rods if he cares anything for his team. The blacksmith draws out the point, but that and the edge have to be filed down as sharp as possible, and then as I say, sharpen every eighty rods.

"But to return to the sod house. After the outside is completed the inside is finished up to suit the taste and pocket of the proprietor. Some have only the earthen floor, and others have a board floor and are divided up into two or three rooms, and I tell you, for winter comfort in Dakota a sod house beats them all.

"Besides these there are dug-outs on the side of a hill, and occasionally you will meet one on the prairie. The class of settlers that come in there, as a rule, have to put up with almost everything the first year or two. They count the cost and are prepared to meet the bill."

AGAINST CORSETS. The Corset Not at All Necessary to Make a Good Figure.

No mother should allow her daughter to wear stays while she is under her charge. If a girl never begins to wear corsets, I promise her she will not require them. But woe if she once begins to wear them; for then she will not be able to do without them, for they weaken the spine, and once weakened it cannot disengage with the false support it has long depended upon.

Believe me, the most beautiful and graceful figures are those which have never been in steel or whalebone. I will risk all I possess in a wager that if you never put stays on a little girl she will not require them when she becomes a woman, and she will have a figure that every one will admire and covet.

A young girl with a slight, supple, yet firm figure certainly needs no corset; and a woman, however stout she may be, will always look fresher and stiffer in stays than without them. Loose jackets and flowing draperies are far more becoming to a stout figure than tight stays; and as for young slim girls and women, all they need is a band round the waist to mark its natural curve.

I, who write these lines as a stayless being, and I need not blush if I tell you at this distance that my dressmaker used to say that, among all their ladies, there was not one who had a more perfect figure than mine.

You see, I speak in the past tense; years have changed the once youthful figure to more matronly proportions, but I can still exercise, touching the ground without bending the knees, and perform other gymnastic feats.

I have proven by experience that the corset is not necessary, and urge all to do without it. An elastic, light-fitting jersey will support your figure quite enough if it needs support.—Ninon.

RED HAIR. The Popular Prejudice Against It.

How are we to account for the popular prejudice against red hair? Is it connected with the tradition that Judas Iscariot was red-haired, or is it of earlier origin?

So strong was the sentiment against it in the Middle Ages that one of the chroniclers denounces it as "a burning brand of infidelity." It may very well be that the hatred with which William Rufus was regarded owed an extra dash of intensity to the color of his tawny locks.

Not a few personages, however, have been endowed by nature with hair of this fatal hue, (white their fathers no doubt, persisted in describing as Auburn), for instance, Anne Boleyn, (Mr. Froude speaks of "her fair hair flowing loose over her shoulders"); Queen Elizabeth, (Sir Richard Baker describes her as "inclining to pale yellow"; Fuller uses the convenient epithet, "fair"); Columbus, the poet, Cambrone, and Marlowe, etc.

One does not like to think of red-haired poets; but the reader will find that Auburn, which has at least a warm tinge on it, has not been uncommon among "the brotherhood of the tuneful lyre." Shakespeare's hair and beard were Auburn, if we may credit the original coloring of his bust in Stratford church, and Milton's "hyacinthine locks" were of a similar color. But Burns's hair was black, and Byron's of a dark brown.

Mason and Dixon's Line. Mason and Dixon's line derived its name from the surveyors, Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon.

The "line" was 300 miles long and marked the boundary between Pennsylvania and Maryland and Virginia. It was marked by stone posts at intervals of one mile.

The Democratic Flop.

The Democratic flop on the Chinese question is characteristic of that party, says the San Francisco Republican. It never had any principles, except gaining the offices, and to accomplish this it will resort to any device, and twist and turn to accommodate itself to the popular idea, in order to catch votes, and then flop over and break every ante-election pledge and promise made to the people. News came by the grapevine telegraph that China had rejected the Bayard treaty. Mr. Cleveland immediately ordered Congressman Scott to rush a strong Restriction Act through the House. This was done, and Bayard telegraphed to our Minister to China, and learned that the news of the rejection was a canard. Then Mr. Cleveland began to think of the comity of nations, courtesy to China, and all that kind of slush, and turned around and tried to beat his own bill in the Senate. The consequence is that the Democratic Senators—mostly Southern brigadiers—have acknowledged themselves on the floor of the Senate as in favor of Chinese immigration, and they do not hesitate to make it apparent that they voice the views of the President.

A Republican Tidal Wave.

Argue it out as they may, a sickening conviction grips the Democracy. The returns from Oregon followed by those of Vermont and Maine, tell the story of a Republican tidal wave in November, and the Democrats, way down deep in that part of themselves which does not lie, know and weep over the fact. The set of popular opinion has been too strong and well defined, the majorities too numerous to mean anything but a most powerful setting of the tide in favor of Republican principles. The latter party is united and enthusiastic. Its leaders are eminent and unassailable men. Its quarter of a century of moderate government has been compared with the subversive tendencies which have arisen in but four years of Democratic power, and the judgment of the people have been recorded in favor of the former.

The Toledo Blade very cleverly hits off free trade pretensions in the following:

First—Free trade would benefit the workingman by making food cheaper.

Second—It would benefit the farmer by making food cheaper and manufactured goods dearer.

Third—It would benefit the manufacturer by making goods dearer. This is equal to the borrower who declared to the lender that the "pot was cracked when I borrowed it; it was whole when I returned it, and I never had your confounded pot anyway."

The Wyoming Way.

CHRYSTEN, Sept. 16.—Robert Bull and Joseph Ferris are ranchmen whose claims adjoin on Little Pabogier river in Fremont county. Last Tuesday, Bull, who is a bachelor, eloped with Mrs. Ferris during her husband's absence. Ferris overtook the pair, filled Bull's head full of buckshot, and brought his wife home. The man who did the shooting surrendered to the authorities. He is a pioneer, and was a Union veteran and has many friends. Bull has been in the county less than a year, and made but few acquaintances. The verdict of the coroner's jury was: "Deceased came to his death from a gunshot wound inflicted by Joe Ferris."

Veterans Visit Harrison.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 16.—A company of G. A. R. veterans, en route from Columbus to their home in Missouri, called on General Harrison to-day. This afternoon he will receive delegations from New Albany, Indiana, and an Irish-American club of 500 from Chicago, and G. A. R. veterans from Texas, who will present him with a huge pair of Texas ox horns.

WASHINGTON.

The Predicament an "Alder and Abettor of the Mills Bill" Finds Himself in—High Life in the Capital.

Special Correspondence GAZETTE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11, 1888.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—Since the close of the debate on the Tariff bill, many Democratic Congressmen have found themselves in queer predicaments. The latest to be added to the list is Representative Crain of Texas, who is having a hard time in his district on account of having supported the Mills Tariff bill, and especially the free wool clause. Mr. Crain has always boasted that he represented the greatest wool-growing district in this country. He has just had served upon him a set of resolutions recently passed at a meeting of stock and business men, held at Encinal, Texas, in which it is stated that the Mills bill, should it become a law, would cripple, injure or ruin every stock and business man in Southwestern Texas, and in which the authors pledge themselves to do all in their power to defeat the re-election of Mr. Crain, "one of the aiders and abettors of the bill." They are looking for an opposition candidate.

Hon. S. S. Cox of New York, the gentleman who so kindly started our State lately, and was so promptly placed "hors de combat" by Woodburn, has had a rough road to travel looking for a new Congressional district to represent in Congress. Mr. Cox has represented four different metropolitan districts in Congress. He has always been a carpet-bagger. Tammany has each time decided where he should locate for the purpose of a legal residence long enough before election to legalize his vote. Usually he has been thus placed in a part of the city overwhelmingly Democratic, so that his campaigns have never been uncertain. But this year there have come forward an unusual number of strong politicians desirous of coming to Washington. In every one of the down town districts, wherein the resident population is comparatively small and Democratic nominations cannot result in anything else than elections, there is at least one statesman who cannot be put off. Therefore an entirely new field had to be selected, and that has been a most difficult job. The district from which he was last sent to Congress is controlled by Patrick Reilly, who has just grown rich in the office of register, and who is bound to be a Congressman. It was at first proposed to displace Congressman Tim Campbell, and then Congressman Amos J. Cummings was mentioned for sacrifice, but both these active legislators refused to step down and out. It is now decided by Tammany to nominate Cox in the Eleventh District, which is on the west side of the town, between Sixteenth and Fifty-second streets. This decision will involve for the humorous and funny gentleman a hot campaign, for the parties are about equally divided in that district, so for the first time in twenty years he will have to hustle for himself. Hitherto he has always been a speaker in behalf of other candidates, his own nomination being his reward, but now he will have to use his own oratory in explaining his "Buckeye Abroad" and his membership in the "Cobden Club." Hereafter he has always helped Tammany, now he must seek their aid.

A choice morsel for scandal-mongers has been going around privately among the knowing ones. The story has a lesson.

A Representative from a far-away State went home a few days ago and informed his wife that business of an important nature called him to Baltimore. He said he would be back the next day at noon. So he kissed his darling wife and started for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad depot. He didn't reach that point, however, for he switched off at Pennsylvania Avenue and proceeded to a house near by, where he found waiting for him a female. Two hours later the pair boarded a street car and in due time were seated at a table in a French restaurant on 15th street, enjoying a tete-a-tete over a rich repast. It was while they were thus occupied that there walked into the room a man and woman. Who should the woman be but the wife of the far-away statesman, and she was accompanied by another far-away statesman. There was a look of consternation all around, but no scene.

The wife merely remarked that two could play at the same game, and now that there had been a discovery the best thing to be done was to go quietly home. As the companion of the first far-away statesman was the widowed daughter of far-away statesman number two, they paired off and retired in good order.

F. V. R.

How He Advertised.

A gentleman, living in a small city in the West, had inherited consumption from his father, and the doctor told him he must die. He stopped taking his weakening physic and tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. In three months he was strong and well. The gentleman's neighbors knew how sickly he formerly was, and asked him to state to the public how he had been cured. He advertised to lecture on a certain evening in the public hall, and there was a large audience present. This was his lecture: A picture of himself before and after he tried the remedy, and five empty bottles of Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. He said nothing, but convinced his audience just the same.

It cures all—Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

Thousands of Dollars
Are spent every year by the people of this State for worthless medicines for the cure of throat and lung diseases, when we know that if they would only invest $1 in Santa Able, the new California discovery for consumption and kindred complaints, they would in this pleasant remedy find relief. It is recommended by ministers, physicians and public speakers of the Golden State. Sold and guaranteed by Osburn & Shoemaker at $1 a bottle. Three for $2.50.

The most stubborn case of catarrh will speedily succumb to California Cat-R-Ride. Six months' treatment for $1. By mail $1.10.

Irritation of the Throat and All Lung Troubles are quickly relieved and permanently cured by Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. (It contains no opium.) Price, 75 cents, sold by Wm. F. Frazier. All genuine Albinson preparations bear the signature of Dr. D. F. Frazier.

DAVID TERRY.

Fred Hart Declares Him to be a Bully and a Coward.

There is one editor in California who is not afraid of Judge David Terry. His name is Fred Hart, an old-time Nevada journalist, and the name of the paper of which he is the presiding genius is the San Francisco Republican. In its issue of the 8th instant, Mr. Hart states that Terry is a bully and a coward, and proceeds to prove it in the following fashion:

There never was a bully who was not a coward, and the writer is prepared to prove that Dave Terry—or ex-Judge Terry, as the papers politely call him—is both of these. During the White Pine mining excitement in 1880, Terry went to Hamilton to practice law. He was poor in purse, but his stock of vindictiveness was full. It so happened that in the most prominent place of resort there was over the bar a portrait of Broderick, the man he had slain. Hearing of this, ex-(communicated) Judge Terry stalked in and in the presence of several hundred people, hissed at the picture of his victim. A man named Billy Milliken sent him a challenge; it was carried by Jack Harris. Milliken was not an angel, but he did not know the meaning of physical fear. Harris was only an ordinary, every-day stage robber, for whom Mr. Wells and Mr. Fargo had a peculiar and understandable aversion. Mr. Terry sent word that he could not meet Mr. Milliken on the field of honor, owing to the fact that Mr. Milliken was not his equal as a gentleman, and that he had prior engagements in California, which he proceeded to keep with alacrity, by getting on the stage at midnight, and waiting his portly person to the more congenial climes of the San Joaquin valley.

The Republican's space is limited; Mr. and Mrs. Terry are enjoying the congeniality of each other's society in the best boudoirs that Sheriff Hale's hospitality in Oakland affords, and we don't like to hit a man when he is down; but we only want to repeat that any man who will kill another and afterwards sneer and hiss at the dead man's picture is a coward, and to remind ex-Judge Terry that the days when a man can run a court of justice with a bowie knife in each boot, a stiletto down the back of his neck, a deringer in each vest pocket, a Texas dragon six-shooter in each sleeve and a Fort Sumpter mortar in the folds of his shirt have gone by, and that now in California the majesty of the law is greater than a walking arsenal. We give this advice to Terry: more in sorrow than in anger, for he is old enough to have lived to learn that border ruffian methods died with the war, and we don't like to see him and Mrs. Terry set up in the East and in Europe as models of California's best and most high-toned society.

A Hint to Fanny People.

From their arrival on this planet to their usually early departure from it, people of weak constitutions and angular physiques pass a sort of half-existence. Like dormice they burrow in their home retreats, afraid of heat, afraid of cold, constantly afraid that the shadow of the dread reaper will materialize and exact the forfeit which he demands from all, sooner or later. No finer medicinal assurance of comparative vigor for the feeble exists than that afforded by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Used with persistence—not with spurts and spasms—this genial and professionally commended tonic will do much toward infusing strength into a puny system, and rounding off scrawny angles in the human figure. Appetite, nerve, tranquillity and nightly repose are encouraged by it, and a malaria, rheumatic, bilious tendency overcome. It re-establishes digestion and prevents kidney troubles.

Why suffer from Bleeding, Blind, Itching and Ulcered Piles, Catarrh, or Gonor- rhea, when a few applications of Fryer's Abietine Ointment is guaranteed to effect a cure. Price, 25 cents. Sold by Wm. F. Frazier. All genuine Abietine preparations bear the facsimile signature of D. F. Fryer.

Canker humors of every description, whether in the mouth, throat or stomach, are expelled from the system by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine invariably proves itself worthy of all that can be said in its favor. Sold by druggists and dealers in medicines. Price 50 cents per bottle.

He was about 25 years of age.

Reducing the Surplus.

The disposition of the surplus in the U. S. Treasury engages the attention of our Statesmen, but a more vital question has our attention, and that is the reduction of the surplus consumptives. Since the discovery and introduction of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, there has been a marked decrease in the mortality from this dreaded disease, and it is possible to still further reduce the number of consumptives. How? By keeping constantly at hand a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and using according to directions, upon the appearance of the first symptoms, such as a cough, a cold, a sore throat, a chest or side pain. Taken this early a cure is guaranteed. Trial bottles free at Hodgkinson's drug store.

STATE FAIR.

A GOOD BEGINNING AT THE TRACK.

The Pavilion Not Yet Ready for Visitors—Interesting Notes—The Hack Robbers at Work—Etc.

At the Track.

The Nevada State Fair of 1888 opened most auspiciously, the weather was all that could be desired, and everything passed off without anything happening to mar the pleasure of the day. Although it was the first day quite a large crowd was in attendance. In the stock department there are still many absent exhibits, but by Wednesday this most important adjunct will be in full running order, and promises to be the most complete and interesting ever held in the State. It will receive due attention from the GAZETTE when the proper time arrives.

THE RACES.

The first on the programme was a selling purse, one mile dash, with the following entries: Leopold Steiner of Austin entered Parole; G. L. Richardson entered Minnie B. and Small; Alcatraz entered Theodore Winters' Alcatraz, which proved an easy winner, by a length, with Minnie B. second and Parole third. Time, 1:48.

The second was the Nevada stake for two-year-olds, five-eighths of a mile dash. Theo. Winters entered Don Jose, and W. M. Murray Almont, the latter winning in 1:48.

The above were followed by a three-eighths mile and repeat race in which Theo. Winters entered Joe Courtney, J. M. Welch Fox, T. N. Hansen Look-out and Leopold Steiner Rondo. Owing to the late hour at which it occurred the GAZETTE can give no account of it.

THE PAVILION.

The first day of the pavilion exhibition, as usual, is in a rather chaotic condition, for somehow or other exhibitors will persist, like ladies going to church, in remaining till the very last moment.

The lower floor is littered with a tangle of furniture, bedding and miscellany of everything. Upstairs, the triangular glass frame receptacles are being but tardily filled, while the ample vacant space between them in the middle has but one furniture firm display, which looks extremely lonesome. The walls and aisles on the outside are lamentably bare, except like the chicken pen, in spots.

However, this is to be expected on a first day and by Wednesday the exhibits will all be in place and the pavilion beautifully decorated. Superintendent Mulcahy reports that all the space has been applied for, and that the exhibit this year will be the largest in the history of the association. For the above reasons an account of the pavilion attractions will be deferred until Wednesday.

The Hack Robbers.

The hack robbers have commenced their imposition on the public. The Board of Directors of the State Fair fixed the price at which licensed vehicles should charge passengers to and from the grounds at twenty-five cents for the round trip and fifteen cents for one way. A combination has been made by the drivers and if any one is caught without a ticket these licensed (?) pilferers charge twenty-five cents for one way, and a GAZETTE reporter was to-day a victim, he having to pay that sum to Ayers going out and to Chapman coming in. If it is desired to have the fair a success the Board of Directors should at once revoke the license of anyone who is a party to this imposition at their meeting this evening. Hackmen have a well-known reputation for their rapacity and if permitted to go on their mode of filching will reflect upon those who have this matter in charge.

Invitation Accepted.

The Directors of the State Agricultural Society, through C. H. Stoddard, Secretary, have tendered an invitation to the State University faculty and students to attend the fair grounds on Tuesday, the 18th inst., and President Leroy D. Brown has accepted the same, and announced to the students this morning that he will be given to enable all to attend. President Brown will be at the entrance of the fair grounds from 1 o'clock until 2 o'clock to designate all those entitled to admission on this invitation.

Fair Notes.

Quarter-stretch badges, admitting to stretch and grand stand, are on sale. Price $2.50.

A grand stock parade will take place at the fair grounds to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

The hack robbers should be suppressed. The duty of the Board of Directors is plain.

W. R. Chamberlain was judge of the races to-day. When it comes to that kind of business "there is no flies on Bill."

Brookins is the only Renoite who was so far enthused by the fair situation as to hold the flag on the apex of his domicile to-day.

The State Agricultural Society has opened an office at the corner of Second and Center streets, where clerks can be found at any hour in the day.

As early as half past nine o'clock this morning, enterprising expressmen and wagons were scouring the streets of Reno for passengers to the fair grounds.

A special train will run daily between Virginia and Reno during fair week. The train will leave Virginia at 8 o'clock A. M., and the fare will be $2 for the round trip.

Silver City sent in a solid bunch of sixteen Silver City, in one of the old-time Dayton, Silver City, Gold Hill and Virginia buses yesterday afternoon to grace the fair.

Wonder how much "Just" paid for the two-column attack on the State Fair published in the Enterprise yesterday morning?—It evidently takes "boodle" to make the fight.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Representative horsemen stated that the track, for a new one, is the best on the Coast. Their judgment does not jibe with the criticism of "Justice" in Sunday morning's Enterprise.

Virginia Enterprise: Mrs. George Crutcher has sent an elegant fire screen to the State Fair. It is all the work of her nimble fingers. Mrs. Sutherland will send a silken emblematic banner.

The music of the Winnemucca Brass band at the track to-day was all that could be desired. They are all good Americans, too, a fact which their headgear at once proclaims. They wear Harrison hats.

Sheriff Flint to-day appointed the following named citizens as Deputy Sheriffs, to serve during fair week: Thomas Branton, Frank Cook, Thomas Sullivan, John Cunningham, Dorendo Dickey, Frank Moreland.

The ladies riding tournament will take place Wednesday, and on the same day the First Brigade, N. N. G., will assemble at the track for parade, inspection and target practice. It will be the red letter day of the fair.

At a meeting of the State Board of Agriculture Saturday the following resolution was passed: Resolved, That the business of Reno be requested to close at 12 M. Thursday, September 20th, and that the citizens generally patronize the State Fair on that day.

Live stock exhibitors are notified that exhibit cards have been prepared by the Society, and can be had on application to the Secretary. Every exhibitor should apply for one, fill it out with the name, pedigree, etc., of the animal exhibited, and post it in a conspicuous place on the stall.

It could readily be seen yesterday afternoon that a sprinkling of Comstockers was beginning to arrive and amalgamate with the Simon pure Renoites. It was "One three was b'hoys? Where's t'mother's son of yo been, laddie, sence t'saw t'e last?"

To-morrow Sensation, Alphus, Belle Spencer and Victor will contest for supremacy in a trotting race (2:27 class) for a purse of $600, and great interest is manifested in it by our local sports. Victor is the phenomenal trotter who surprised the sporting fraternity at Sacramento last week, and a great race is predicted here to-morrow.

The Winnemucca Brass Band, under the leadership of Gabe Hoskins, arrived from Winnemucca last evening and were met at the depot by the members of the McKissick Opera House and Reno Cornet Band, who welcomed their arrival with appropriate music. The visitors were then escorted to their hotel, the Golden Eagle, and music was rendered by the Reno bands, which was responded to by the Winnemuccans.

AMUSEMENTS.

NEIL WARNER IN INGOMAR.

To-night Neil Warner, the celebrated tragedian and melodramatic actor, will commence an engagement of one week at McKissick's Opera House and for the initial performance will present the beautiful drama of "Ingomar." Mr. Warner appearing in the title role. The GAZETTE has it on the authority of George Osborne, the well-known actor, who visited Reno several months ago, that Mr. Warner is one of the best actors and elocutionists in America, and that when he retired from the stage to accept the Professorship of Elocution in the College of Montreal the stage lost one of its brightest lights. At the time of making the above statement Mr. Osborne did not know that the subject of his talk had been unable to permanently abandon the sock and buskin, and spoke of him as being forever lost to the stage. Mr. Osborne is a competent judge of what constitutes a good actor, and his endorsement will go further with our people than a column of newspaper platitudes, the bragging of Mr. Warner's irrepressible advance agent, Joe Mount, or of his manager, Yohn Biper. Reserved seats at Nasby's Bazaar.

WARD COMPANY IN EAST LYNNE.

To-night Miss Carrie Clarke Ward, one of the best soubrettes on the Pacific Coast, James M. Ward, whose fame as a delineator of Irish characters is national, and Miss Lottie Wade, an emotional actress, who has been endorsed by the press of the country, supported by a competent company, will commence a season of one week at the Nevada Theater and will present a round of favorite plays for the edification of our play-going public. To-night the beautiful emotional play of "East Lynne" will be presented with Miss Lottie Wade in the title role. Miss Mabel Borton, the young daughter of our fellow townsman, C. W. Borton, will make her professional debut, appearing as Little Willie. Reserved seats at Davis' Cigar Store.

KATHLEEN MAURVORNEEN.

On last Saturday night the above-named play was witnessed by a large and appreciative audience. Lack of space prevents a full review, but it was universally conceded that the amateurs acquitted themselves very creditably, while the managers are to be congratulated upon meeting with a financial success. It is pleasant to note that Miss Lillian Borton made a charming Kathleen and delighted her friends with a very correct portrayal of the character. She was presented with a beautiful floral horseshoe by the members of the company at the opening of the second act. Mr. D. E. Fritz personated Terence O'More and was received with enthusiastic applause. Miss Julia Wintermantel in her song during the first act captivated the audience with the rich melody of her voice and was compelled to respond to the generous encore. Little Mabel Borton was charming in her song and, receiving a handsome bouquet and vociferous applause, responded with an encore. The other members of the company all acquitted themselves very creditably, and generally speaking made the play a success.
